Six MCC Soccer Players Make All-American

By PAUL CONLEY

Coach Joe Mancarella felt like a proud "father" when he found out that six of his starting eleven made All-American positions this year. The Tribunes placed two players on both the first and second teams and two on Honorable Mention.

Andre Gorzynski was selected as First Team Left-Wing for the second year in a row. Andre led the Region III in assists and retained a two year average of a goal and an assist a game. He has only missed one game in two years due to an injury. His most productive game was against Brockport late in October. He was credited with a goal and three assists.

Victor Latiuk was the other player selected to the First Team at his Center-Halfback position. Vic ended the year with a goal and two assists. He has the best sense of direction on the team when it comes to heading the ball. On numerous occasions he has saved many would-be goals. His best performance was against Keystone College in the Semi-Finals of the Nationals. While on all "fours" Vic saved three well directed shots at the MCC goal. MCC goalie Paul Conley was beginning to wonder who was actually the goalie on the team.

Second Team selections went to Roman Kucil and Ralph Palumbo. Roman was the highest scoring center-forward in Region III. He had a total of 22 goals and 11 assists for total of 33 points. His most productive game was against Corning Community College in which he scored three goals and was credited with three assists. Roman also scored four goals against Brockport in the second meeting of the two clubs.

Ralph Palumbo is the smallest, yet one of the finest, young Fullbacks in the Junior College Circuit. On occasion Ralph has been used on the line and produced a goal and an assist against Corning. He is a fine dribbler with a "mighty-mite" type of kick.

Honorable Mention Positions went to Goalie Paul Conley and Right Inside Guy Bonfiglio. Paul, MCC's first three letterman, allowed only 13 goals in 14 games for a goals average of .928. He had six penalty kicks shot at him and none managed to enter the twines. He is also credited with six shutouts and has played line on two occasions this year.

Guy Bonfiglio, Jefferson High's All-Scholastic hustling right-inside, was given Honorable Mention for his performance this year. Guy is one of the best dribbling linemen on the right side and is a fine hustler. On many occasions he has left his position to come back on defense to foil the opposition. Guy's most productive game was against Corning. He scored four goals and was credited with two assists.

Gray Appointed to Finance Committee

Mr. James W. Gray was appointed to the College's Finance Committee at the last meeting of the Board of Trustees by Samuel J. Stabins, M.D., Chairman of the Board. Mr. Gray was recently appointed to the Board by Governor Rockefeller.

This committee of the Board, chairmaned by Mr. E. Kent Damon, is responsible for the approval of all financial matters prior to their presentation to the Board of Trustees for final approbation. Financial matters include such areas as budget, capital construction, operating costs, purchasing procedures, and other related financial affairs.

PHOTOGRAPHERS!

Do You Enjoy Taking Pictures? Do You Have Knowledge of Developing, Enlarging or Printing Pictures?

If so, the Graphic Arts Association can use your skills. If you are interested in serving your School through the school newspaper and yearbook come to the Graphic Arts Association office in the rear of the student coatroom during any college hour.

Greeks Do It Together

Cooperation may soon be noticed among the fraternities and sororities. An Inter-Greek Council, consisting of MCC's fraternities and sororities, is presently in the planning stage.

The purpose of this Council is to promote the Greek system of MCC and to provide a means with which they may aid each other in their activities. Chris Belle-Isle, originator of the idea for the Council, said "I thought that there should be Inter-Greek activities, for example, an Inter-Greek dance. Also, they can help each other with different problems."

The Council will consist of presidents and two representatives of each sorority and fraternity.

According to Don Flaherty, acting president and coordinator, the presidents of the fraternities and sororities, are drafting a constitution which is required before it can be chartered by the Student Government. The constitution of the Interfraternity Council of Rochester Institute of Technology is being used as an example.

Scholarship Fund Gains Again

During the month of December, there was again a large gain in the Scholarship Fund. $3,424 were donated by several groups and persons.

Xerox Corporation led the list with a donation of $2,000. MCC faculty, administration, and staff added $624 through their Christmas project in lieu of giving Christmas cards. Other donations were made by Packard Chemical Corp., $350; Mandell Pharmacy, $250; Mrs. Hoeing, $100; and anonymous, $100.

SGA Moves Out . . . Confusion Reigns As RAETA Moves In

Any student, faculty member, or staff member having business with the Student Government Association will have to do a little searching before they find the persons they are seeking.

Beginning next semester, the SGA office will be relocated in the basement. Some Executive Board members will occupy the present Recall and Graphic Arts Association office causing these two organizations to move into the newly built addition in front of their office and the Monroe Doctrine office. Sharing the new office with them will be the remaining Student Government and class officers.

This move is causing much confusion, commotion, and inconvenience among those moving. The new office, which is about one half the size of the old one, will include more people and equipment. The Recall staff will be preparing the yearbook; the Graphic Arts Association will be producing a movie for Spring Weekend; the Student Government will be carrying on its regular business, which includes meetings and preparing Winter and Spring Weekend. Questions have been raised as to each organization completing its business while still respecting the other organizations privacy. This question, at present, is being left unanswered.

This move has been brought about because the old office, Room 127, will be provided as faculty offices. The office previously used by the faculty will be taken over by the Rochester Area Educational Television Association. RAETA will also use Room 122.

RAETA has had an option on additional space adjacent to their present quarters since 1961. This space was to be made available when RAETA was successful in acquiring its license for an educational television station. This is now a reality. In expanding their quarters and staff for September 1, 1966, the space must be made available as soon as possible so that renovations can be started immediately. RAETA also occupies the south end of the basement.

View of the Future

Palo Alto, Calif. — (I.P.) — The architect's "sensitivity to education's hopes and needs," and the part he plays in campus humanization and the enormous business of housing higher education, were reported in a release from the Association of University Architects meeting earlier this year at Stanford University.

The AUA members, licensed architects all, have the job of housing higher education for its dual role of continuity and improvement, of keeping the good and adding the better, of staying stable and orderly through the disorder of the change it values and invites, integrates or rejects.

Cognizant of education's role and its present and projected numerical growth, AUA members also turned their attention to growth in vision, in concept, in technological innovation. Said one member, "We're presented with new, revitalized academic concepts, new ways of teaching. It's our role to encourage academic people to think more broadly and better. It's our job to house their thoughts better." Said others, "The swing in the direction of humanism is a great opportunity for the architect" . . . "we must house ideals, as well as ideas" . . . "there's too much physical planning, not enough incorporation of the goals of the people involved" . . . "as we become more sensitive to academe, it will become more sensitive to what we can do."

Other subjects discussed were the satellite campus, underground and surface campus traffic and transportation, student living-curriculum coordination, the esprit de corps of new campuses and aiding it by land and architectural planning, the growing importance of land planners.

Still others: Creating a campus "feeling" out of the topsy-like growth of other years, drawing smooth edges around the perimeter of older campuses for a more cohesive campus and better community relationships, underground libraries, teaching towers, programmed learning facili-

College Deans And Presidents To Study MCC

MCC will play host to two Middle States Case Study teams on March 7-9 and March 28-30.

This honor resulted from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools visit in March, 1965, to examine the college's academic program and total structure. Out of this visit, the Association accredited the college. Also, the Commissions on Institutions of Higher Education requested permission to use the college as a case study to train other community college accreditation teams.

The case studies are a new device to give interested college people, chiefly administrators, a chance to think concretely about academic planning and operations in the context of a particular institution.

The two teams, 12 persons each, who will visit MCC, will consist mostly of Deans and Presidents.

Don't Be Crooks Hand in Your Books

All books must be returned to the library by January 17. According to Mr. Hayes, librarian, students will not receive their final grades until these books have been returned.

Also, any students desiring to make use of the library during the semester break may do so between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Professor Requests Apology

To the Editor:

The December 17, 1965 issue of the Monroe Doctrine contains two sorts of inexcusable blunders.

1. I find the last paragraph of Leonard Weldman's letter to the editor positively incoherent. The sentences are hopelessly jumbled. This is either sloppy writing or sloppy editing, or a combination of both. Careful proofreading would have caught this.

2. The second blunder is much more serious because it is a deliberate violation of the principles of responsible writing. I refer to the entire article by "W.W." on page 3 entitled, "Rocky Is Smooth, But Is He Sincere?" I also refer to the captions under the two photographs of Governor Rockefeller and the inane comments at the end of the article.

I attended the meeting at which Governor Rockefeller answered questions, and I remember clearly what was discussed and what Governor Rockefeller said.

"W.W." obviously disapproves of the governor, and he has a right to disapprove. But the right to disapprove, and to disagree with a man's ideas, does not carry with it the right to attack his character.

Even the title of the article questions Governor Rockefeller's sincerity. I find no evidence in the articles that Governor Rockefeller is insincere, and he did not avoid the issues raised, as "W.W." says he did. The governor did not answer in "vague generalities" nor in "sweeping statements". The statements correctly attributed to the governor in the second paragraph of the article are quite specific replies to the questions from the audience.

The statement that, "Rockefeller is indeed a master at avoiding the issue and he is as slippery as the proverbial eel when it comes to pinning him down to specifics," is no evidence of his insincerity; on the contrary, it is a libelous, irresponsible statement.

The captions under the two photographs taken of Governor Rockefeller as he spoke at the meeting are utterly false and are therefore another example of irresponsible writing. Governor Rockefeller obviously did not say, "I can buy and sell every last one of you," nor did he say any thing of the sort. In its implications this caption is serious malignment of character. Nor did the governor say, "You pay my tax or else!" In fact the tax issue was not discussed at all at the meeting. So "W.W." is again misrepresenting the facts. And the implications of attributing this caption to Governor Rockefeller are vicious.

But this is not all! Below this false and vicious attack on the character of the governor, the editors try to pass off this entire matter as a joke:

> There is no malice of any kind connected with the appearance of the above photographs. The truth of the matter is: they were just too funny to be left un-noticed.

The photographs are obviously accurate and harmless. But they are not funny, and the captions are irresponsible and vicious. Making a malicious attack on the character of a public official is one thing; to disclaim the malice and to treat the attack as a joke shows a total lack of responsibility in writing.

I believe the responsible citizens (students, faculty and administrators) of the college community deserve an apology from "W.W." and the editor-in-chief of the Monroe Doctrine. We resent the college being represented so poorly in its newspaper. I request an apology in the next issue of the Monroe Doctrine for the incredible blunders in "W.W.'s" article and for the inane editorial comment immediately following the article.

Sincerely yours,
Dana M. Woodbridge,
Chairman
Department of English

Football at MCC—Why Not?

Why not have a New York State Community College Football Conference? Sounds good, doesn't it? The only problem is that you may rest assured that it will never happen. Seems as though the present laws will not allow it. Under these laws the students pay for uniforms, travel, room and board etc. for the various teams out of their fees. As a result it would be economically impossible to field a team on the gridiron for a New York community college. Too bad, it would be a great idea. Poor, rich, little New York again brings up the rear.

Letters To The Editor

Fraternities Thank Contributors

To the Editor:

Theta Kappa Chi and Gamma Chi would like to thank the student body and members of the faculty for their contribution to the Eddie Meath fund. The collections totaled $127.00. This money was turned over to the Eddie Meath fund on December 17th and was used to buy toys for children in the area hospitals. Again, we would like to thank you for your generosity.

Pres. Expresses Gratitude

To the Editor:

Last spring approximately thirty girls met in a room during college hour and elected a new set of officers for Sigma Iota Chi Sorority. During this meeting, I was elected president. This was a real honor and challenge for me; and I realized there was a lot of work involved.

During the summer, I found there was more to being president of a Sorority than I expected, but I also learned that all the work could not be done by one person.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the girls I have worked with this semester for their cooperation and friendship in keeping up the good name of Sigma Iota Chi Sorority. Planning a constructive pledge program, doing service to school and the community, and supporting the college could not have been done without the help and hard work of every girl in the Sorority.

I would also like to extend a sincere thanks to Miss Barbara Lewick who has been our Sorority Advisor for the last two years. Her guidance and suggestions have really been appreciated.

Thanks you, girls, for making a hard job much easier.

Bobbi Dobbertin
President,
Sigma Iota Chi Sorority

What's in the Wind

Although there may not be any snow on the ground, Winter Weekend is still planned for February 11, 12, and 13. In case people haven't seen the posters around, Friday, Feb. 11, at 8 p. m., there will be entertainment at East High; Saturday, Feb. 12, from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., there will be a semi-formal dance ("tux not required") at the Green Lantern Inn and Sunday, Feb. 13, there will be a Cabin Party from 12 p. m. to 10 p. m. with the G. Lewis Trio. If there's no snow for the snow sculpture contest—everyone bring a can of spray snow!!

Attendance at the basketball games has been very poor. We would like to remind the students that the new cut system does not apply to extracurricular activities. By the way there's a game tonight.

Over semester break the S. G. A. office will move down to join the Recall and the Monroe Doctrine. If it was thought that the present S. G. A. office was overcrowded, the new office will make it a fact. This is the first time in MCC's history that an office will have "bunk" desks.

According to the fire rules, the maximum seating capacity of the cafeteria is 355, would 2000 people please get up. But maybe after finals people will.

Signs have been placed in the S. G. A. office: "This area is not a coat rack," "Please use rack upstairs," "This table for posters only," "No books," "Books will be removed," "Stay out without authorization." In the future, will the S. G. A. please preface their next rules with "Thou shalt not."

Doctrine's Faculty Advisor Makes Policy Statement

Last September I was appointed Faculty Advisor for the Monroe Doctrine. At that time I accepted the post believing my position was solely to advise. Unfortunately, I found myself teaching more students than I had anticipated: a problem many faculty members experienced this semester. The school newspaper, in the meantime, had suffered for lack of advisement, and I must take the entire blame. Recently, I had some discussions with Dean Smith and Mr. Trevisan, and I agreed with them that more time was needed advising the staff of the newspaper. I also felt that the staff needed guidance besides advisement. Now by guidance I don't mean censorship of ideas. In a four-year college, juniors and seniors run the paper with freshmen and sophomores filling positions as cub reporters and generally learning from upper classmen. At a two-year college such as Monroe Community College, I believe the advisor must play the additional role of upper classman and guide the freshmen and sophomore staff.

I think we have the nucleus of a fine staff on the Monroe Doctrine. But we need the help of students, faculty, administration and staff. We cordially invite students to join us on the Doctrine. We have a lot of openings from feature writers to those with a talent for managing the business end of a newspaper.

We would like the full cooperation of the faculty, administration and staff. I hope you will always be willing to give interviews to reporters and understandably accept criticism when it is directed at you from the editorial page or a feature column. After all we are not above criticism; we should all be aware that criticism can help us improve as teachers and administrators.

A good college newspaper should be a student voice in school affairs. From my experience as a student at Columbia University, the newspaper was always a powerful voice in campus affairs. Too often the college student is not considered at all in the policy of running a college in America. If we are serious about making Monroe Community College a college and not just a post-secondary school, then I believe the newspaper should be run with all the freedom on the part of the students to responsibly criticize college and world actions. As long as I remain Faculty Advisor for the Monroe Doctrine, this will be the policy of my advisement and guidance.

The first improvement in the Doctrine will be better proofreading. We should be able to turn out a four-page issue free of typographical errors and incoherent sentences and paragraphs. The column "What's in the Wind" will be restored to short editorial comments. Eventually, we will change the title of this column; it has been a gossip column of late. As far as gossip is concerned, "What's in the Wind" is "gone with the wind." There is no place for gossip in a responsible college newspaper. The title of the political affairs column "Polli Tacks" will be changed; it smacks too much of a tabloid heading. Finally, our headlines in the future will reflect responsible reporting. There will be no more tabloid headlines.

Our aim will be to make Monroe Doctrine the best two-year college newspaper in the state, even surpassing some of its early issues. But, again, we need the help of all students. Early in the new semester we will call an organizational meeting. We hope all those with experience on high school newspapers and those who would like to write for the newspaper will join us. To the remaining students, we hope you will write letters commenting on news and editorials and make suggestions for further improvements of the Monroe Doctrine.

Lastly, we extend an invitation to faculty, administration and staff to write letters to the editor commenting on items in the newspaper; and, of course, we would be interested in hearing some suggestions for improvement. I am sure as the newspaper improves more enthusiasm will be apparent on the part of students, faculty, administration and staff.

Sincerely yours,
Donald Nemeyer
Faculty Advisor

Editorial Reply . . .
DOCTRINE DEFENDS POSITION

In answer to Dr. Woodbridge, we plead guilty of poor judgment in the placement and perhaps in the context of the two photographs accompanying the editorial "Rocky is Smooth, But is he Sincere?"

However, we do not consider them irresponsible and inane. Nor are they a malicious attack on the Governor's character. They are an attempt at humor and satire, perhaps poor, but certainly not vicious. If Professor Woodbridge misses the humor in them, then it is not our fault.

Again we admit that the placement was poor, since the photos were not meant to represent something the Governor actually said, although we admit the possibility that they might be interpreted that way. For this we apologize.

As far as the editorial itself is concerned we are sure that Professor Woodbridge would agree that we are all entitled to our own opinion whether we agree with one another or not. My opinion of Governor Rockefeller appearance here was that he was not concerned with the questions raised but was attempting to sound out and round up votes, a valid political move, but one which should be recognized as such. It was unfair for the Governor to take people's names and addresses with the assurance, that "I will look into it personally," since he obviously does not have the time to do so, but will pass it on to his staff to report to him. Here lies my objection and the basis on which I base my premise that he is insincere. While Professor Woodbridge will realize what the Governor meant, there are people in this world more gullible who will believe that he meant "personally" literally.

The statement that "Rockefeller is indeed a master at avoiding the issue and he is as slippery as the proverbial eel when it comes to pinning him down to specifics," is not a "libelous, irresponsible statement," it is my opinion and in my eyes justified. Furthermore it is my right to say so just as it is Professor Woodbridge's right to call my thinking "inane and blundering."

STUDENTS DISCUSS RIGHTS, LIBERTIES

Santa Fe, N.M.—(I.P.)—New Mexico Deans of Students recently agreed on a fuller enrichment of administrative committees by the addition of representative students, whether this be in a voting or non-voting capacity, at the New Mexico Association of College Student Governments meeting on the campus of the College of Santa Fe (St. Michael's College.)

Concurrent to the separate sessions of the Deans of Students and the Student Body Presidents, a committee drafted the collegiate "Bill of Rights." Dean of Students W. D. Shea of New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology pointed out the meaninglessness of the statement unless the proper authorities such as the state legislature or Board of Directors accept the document.

Although the Student Body Presidents could not concur as to the specific reasons for our nation's foreign policy as to either national defense action, prevention of communist expansion, or a peace keeping mission in Southeast Asia, they unanimously agreed that the recent campus demonstrations across the nation do not represent the majority of students.

The Deans of Students discussed mutual problems and their limitations in view of history, legislation, Regents and Boards of Directors. Regarding "civil liberties," Dean of Students Harold Lavender of the University of New Mexico stated that although a student accepts a college's current catalogue as a contract upon registration, no contract can abrogate a citizen's inherent "civil liberties."

ties, student teaching cells, human saturation and density studies, the human-scale campus, and the use of small scattered lounge type student-faculty facilities to service the spread-out campus and supplement the central student union—to give greater intimacy, to forward "the amenities."

The report pointed out that there was also discussion of some of the pitfalls facing campus development—the dangers of standardization, of "just building" rather than planning; the lack of ingenuity in solving local problems, in tailoring the premise to fit the specific; and the necessity of playing the role of watch dog, of keeping alert to where and when a campus will "run out of the physical," will run out of space for development.

Editorial Comment: Congrats SJFC

Congrats are in order to St. John Fisher College for the proved success of their new liquor ruling. Liquor is now allowed at campus activities sponsored by college organizations. Many doubted that it would last, but the SJFC proved that it would work and now it stands as is. There is no real outstanding reason why it should not work at MCC and other state schools. Again New York State lags behind in the field of educational laws.

RIT Student Helps Graphic Arts Assoc.

By BILL SAUERS, GAA President

Many MCC students and faculty members have seen Ron Mix around campus and have asked why an RIT student would hang around an old Alexander Street building. The answer is simple but could take weeks giving every detail.

Ron Mix, a Recall and Monroe Doctrine photographer of last year has been busy forming and advising the new Graphic Arts Association. It is an organization providing photographic services for both the Recall and Monroe Doctrine and any other club or organization at MCC. Ron has held classes for GAA members to teach them the fundamentals of photography and has gone out of his way to take pictures for MCC when it was impossible for any member of the Graphic Arts Association. A few weeks ago he drove to Buffalo twice to photograph the Nationals and he also did much of the work on the two picture pages of the Dec. 7th issue of the Monroe Doctrine.

Ron receives nothing by doing this except the satisfaction of seeing good photography. While advising the GAA Ron still holds a good average as a full time photography student at RIT.

Ron Mix is a name that should be remembered and respected by the student body at MCC and he can also be assured of many, many thanks from the Graphic Arts Association.

Club News

Theta Kappa Chi

Theta Kappa Chi has initiated the policy this year of not waiting to be asked to do work for the school, but to go and ask for it. The club is chalking up at a torrid pace the number of activities they are helping in.

Right now the Theta's are doing the decorations for Winter Weekend, but they still want to do more. They have now struck at the opportunity of getting the place and other facilities needed for the picnic to be held during Spring Weekend.

Activities having to do with the fraternity are also being planned. The club's pledging system is presently being revised in order to get ready for next semester's rush.

The fraternity would also like to announce that it has nominated Robert Brighton, president, for Snow King of Winter Weekend.

S.A.M. Holds First Meeting

On January 5th of the new year, the newly formed organization, SOCIETY for the ADVANCEMENT of MANAGEMENT, held its first meeting. The advisor of the organization, Prof. Joseph F. Stauffer, managed to acquire the services of Mr. Alfred O. Ginkle, Asst. to the President of Ritter-Pfaudler Corp., to be their guest speaker. Mr. Ginkle gave a brief but well-planned talk on Organization Flow Charts and their uses in big corporations today.

Though the attendance was small, those that were in attendance showed great admiration toward the speaker and his topic.

Theta Upsilon

Theta Upsilon Sorority has nominated Sharon Dorn for Snow Queen of Winter Weekend. The sorority has pride and confidence in Sharon, a second year student majoring in Physical Education. Sharon, as present, is heading the publicity committee for another dance sponsored by Theta Upsilon.

This dance, to be held on Sunday, January 23, from 8:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., will also be at Westminster Park Inn on East River Road. The Root Of All Evil will again play for them. According to the sisters of Theta Upsilon, "If you missed our first dance, you owe it to yourself to come to this one." Due to the success of the first dance, this one is being sanctioned by the College.

Theta Upsilon thanks everyone who contributed to the toy drive. They have reported it as a huge success. All the toys were taken to firemen, who distributed them to needy children.

Chess Club

After much effort and hard work by several students, an MCC Chess Club has been formed.

At the first meeting held in December, temporary officers were elected. They are Jim Boughton, President and Adam Urbanski, Student Representative.

Anyone who is a full or part time student at MCC is invited to join the club. No experience is required. Meetings will be held every Wednesday during college hour in Room 122.

ATTENDANCE DRIVE BEGINS

By PAUL CROSS

In the last issue of the Monroe Doctrine many leaders of different groups publicly stated their interest in school activities. David Borland stated: "It was a good bit of competition while it lasted. We must do it again . . . we of the fraternity feel that these members of our fraternity are . . . supporting the school and building spirit." Sharon Tudor wrote: ". . . we feel ourselves to be as active an organization as is thought of Gamma Chi. However, we do not feel the need to revert to the high school term "in crowd." We consider ourselves to be a "do crowd." As a "do crowd" we have equalled Gamma Chi's record, however, we have not yet surpassed it. This is one of our goals for the future." As for Robert Smith's choice words, if the organizations of our school can not take competition and publicity then maybe they should conduct their meetings behind closed doors and not be recognized as activities of Monroe Community College. It seems that the only way these groups can do anything besides holding beer blasts and parties (except in some cases) is in the spirit of competition.

To repeat a worn-out cliche: "Actions Speak Louder Than Words." On January 28, the MCC Basketball Tribunes will compete against the RIT Frosh in an encounter at the RIT gym at 6:30. This game with our local rivals should prove to be one of the most highly-contested meetings of the season. Last year the contest resulted in several skirmishes and several players fouled out. This year we want as many students at the game as possible to cheer our team on. Another reason for our interest in the attendance at the game is to show the students of RIT and the people of this area that we are really behind our team and school. This is the time to see if the leaders of this school are full of school spirit or just hot air.

A letter has been sent to every group or organization leader of MCC asking them to find out how many of their members can attend and to encourage them to come with as many friends as possible. After considering other possibilities, their first idea of having competition between groups was shelved and a new idea formulated. It was felt that no one should be forced to go to a game. Most students will not do anything unless they are forced. A good example of this is the blood drive. Even though the results were poor and the campaign was considered something of a failure, there would have been only a few students giving blood without some type of competition. The people in this school care, for the most part, more about going out on a Friday or Saturday night with a girl and getting drunk than giving precious blood to help someone live. We just hope that every group leader will do his, or her, best to increase attendance.

When some of the students were questioned if they would go we received several interesting replies. One student stated that this failed to arouse any school spirit in him. He is indicative of the average person who just goes to school every day without any interest in MCC. One Senator of the Monroe Senate said that he had to work that night but that he wouldn't attend even if he could. A member of Gamma Chi became interested in this endeavor and discussed the project with the members of his fraternity. They came up with the idea of staging a pep rally in the auditorium on January 14. They also expressed an active interest in attending the game.

(Ed. note: I am not a member of any fraternity but I feel that Gamma Chi deserves a good deal of praise for their efforts in increasing the attendance at our basketball games. They quickly offer their assistance when they learned of the project. Although I will probably receive the usual complaints for the following question, I feel that it should be asked. Why is it that there are always a few members of Gamma Chi at the basketball games while the other groups either fail to attend or sit in a corner and don't cheer our players like Gamma Chi does? If Sharon Tudor is still trying to keep up with Gamma Chi, then this might be the time to act.

The Monroe Community College Hockey Club has also announced their interest in the project. They have promised to have at least twelve of their players in attendance. Although most of the other members work or will be out of town on Friday, they are working hard to get their friends to come and boost their representation at the game.)

MCC Rallies for Impressive Win Over Onondaga

By PAUL CROSS

The MCC Cagers combined a tremendous defensive pressure via a full court press with offensive speed and shooting prowess to hold Onondaga Community College to two points while scoring 22 at the outset of the second half of play. This outburst enabled them to offset a 39-30 deficit at the midway point of the game and to post an impressive 85-69 victory over their visitors.

Onondaga took advantage of the shooting of Joe Oddo who poured in 16 points and the terrible shooting percentage of MCC (29%) to give them a nine point lead when they went to the locker room between halves. Coach Monagan must have given his team a terrific lecture between halves for there was not one smile nor word spoken by any of the players as they came back on court. The results of this talk was quite evident as the Tribunes completely outplayed and out-maneuvered their opponents. Several players stood out. Dick Helmbold and Jim Murray were all over the court as they stole the ball several times from Onondaga. Dick O'Toole used his rebounding strength and shooting accuracy (12 points in the second half) to move Monroe to their lead.

Basketball Briefs: Steve Hess and Pete Barrett held an Onondaga player who had averaged 26 points a game to a mere six with great defensive efforts . . . Dick Helmbold recorded 14 assists during the game with his quick passes to his teammates . . . Onondaga was beaten by Bryant-Stratton the night before they played us. Bryant shot an unbelievable 75% from the field to gain a one point win . . . The Tribunes were guilty of 21 throwaways which could have proved costly if the press wasn't effective . . . Monroe had a total of six players in double figures in the scoring column with Dick Helmbold paving the way with 15 points. He was closely followed by Dick O'Toole (12), Bruce McDaniel (12), Steve Hess (12), Gary Roth (12), and Pete Barrett (11) . . . Pete Barrett with 13 and Bruce McDaniel with 12 led the rebounding parade as MCC recorded 72 grabs off the boards . . . As usual the refereeing left much to be desired. At times it looked more like a wrestling match than a basketball game but there weren't many fouls called even in obvious plays . . .

Conley's Comments

(Editor's note: Starting with this issue of the Monroe Doctrine and continuing for the rest of this school year the sports department of the paper is featuring this column. This column has been set up with a two-fold purpose: 1) to give Paul Conley the chance to express his opinions and comments on the sports activities at Monroe Community College; 2) to give the student body of MCC the chance to air their feelings on any sports subject.

To introduce Paul Conley, here is a brief review of his achievements. He made the varsity at Franklin High School in baseball, basketball, and soccer. He won the Second Annual Harold J. Roche Memorial Trophy for the most inspired athlete in three sports. Now he has become the first three-letterman at MCC. He played as a guard for Coach Monagan's basketball squad, performed as second baseman for last year's baseball team, and made All Regional and All American on Coach Mancarella's 1965-66 National Junior Champion Soccer Team. This background gives Paul an excellent knowledge of the sports activities here at MCC. His candid remarks will greatly add to the sports page of this paper.

The other contributor to this column is you, the student, or faculty member of Monroe Community College. For you this will give you the chance to express your ideas and criticisms as well as your compliments on any sport, particular game, or member of any sport team whether it be intercollegiate or intramural. For your comment(s) to appear in writing they must be written or typed legibly, signed, and dropped off at the Monroe Doctrine office which is located near the hat check room in the basement. Every opinion will be carefully read and reviewed by Paul Conley and will be placed in his column. However, Paul or I have the right to withhold any contribution if we feel that it is in any way detrimental to the school. This does not mean, though, that we will withhold criticisms of our school's athletics, if we think that your opinion is justifiable.)

Last December 15, Monroe Community College held its first annual Soccer Banquet to pay tribute to their first and well-remembered National Championship Soccer Team. A committee including Mr. John Trevisan, Mr. Ronald Gigliotti, and Mr. George Monagan Jr. secured the facilities of the Towne House Motor Inn for this memorable occasion.

The Master of Ceremonies was the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Samuel J. Stabins, who thought that he qualified for this position due to the fact that he was on a Championship Ping-Pong team in college.

After President Good paid his compliments to the team the group in attendance heard from Donald W. Schmidt, President of Region III. Mr. Schmidt apologized for his nervousness and said that it was due to his trip to Rochester. In his words he flew in on the "poor man's airline—Mohawk." He said that the heater gave out on the plane and the only warm feeling he could muster was that of coming to the banquet. His presentation of awards to the team was hurried so that he could catch a plane back "before they shut off the runway lights."

The soccer team would like to thank Mr. Frank Webb, "The Grandfather" of the soccer team, for the Christmas cards. We are sorry that he couldn't make our banquet because of his operation. We wish him a speedy recovery.

After the soccer banquet was completed many of the players had an opportunity to speak to their old high school coaches and a few of the visiting coaches from Buffalo and St. John Fisher. Later in the night under the watchful eye of Mr. Gigliotti they relaxed at the "Midnighter," at Norton and Carter Street. In the midst of the music Jim Kruze and Sandy Vivian stole the show from the "Go-Go Girls."

We would like to give extra thanks to a few young ladies that made our banquet most enjoyable with their presence. They were Patty Gallo, Marilee Griffith, Robertiette Johnson, Sandy Vivian, and Millie DeLucia. The idea of paying $4.50 for a ticket didn't keep these young ladies from seeing their National Champions.

All six of the selections for All-American made All-Regional including Jerry "Enrico" Ferrari, who made Second Team. It is interesting to note that four of the six attended or graduated from Ben Franklin High School. Franklin must be a very productive "soccer school."

Mr. Mancarella, speaking on behalf of Coach Monagan, would like as many Intramural Basketball players as possible to try to stay eligible for the second semester. This is just in case Coach Monagan needs "recruits."

Will Bob Pascale receive $125,000 from Mr. Chamberlain for baseball services this coming Spring? If he doesn't sign, Coach Chamberlain may have to use his sons.

If Gary Bischoping, forward for Monroe's basketball team at the present, stays eligible for next year he may be a likely prospect for Coach Mancarella's soccer team. He has a good kick and is a fairly good dribbler.

Onondaga Community College came into Rochester thinking that they could run over Coach Monagan's Tribunes the same way they did last year. As more of an insuring inspiration they brought a player with them who was averaging 26 points a game and is at least seven feet tall, if not more. Coach Monagan promptly placed Steve Hess and Pete Barrett in the position of cutting down the "giant's" average. They combined to hold him to a mere six points. Thus outside of a good meal and a bit of sight-seeing they went home with a wasted trip.

Bryant-Stratton came into town on January 7 after having a pleasurable night of beating Onondaga. Bryant shot an unbelievable 75% from the field. That night they were ready to take on Bill Russell and the Boston Celtics. MCC punished Bryant unmercifully in two encounters last year, and they did it again this time.

Coach Mancarella and his National Championship Soccer Team would like to extend very hardy congratulations to one of their exteammates, Pete Prozik, who was selected by the Intercollegiate Soccer Committee as the Number One Fullback in the nation. Buffalo State coach, Fred Hartwick, stated that Pete was one of the most "coachable" players he has ever had and is a fine person on and off the field. His praise was in complete agreement with the opinion of Coach Mancarella.

The MCC Hockey Club would like to express their thanks to MR. JOE CROZIER, GENERAL MANAGER AND COACH OF THE ROCHESTER HOCKEY CLUB, for his contribution of 115 hockey sticks to the club. This and other equipment donated by Mr. Crozier amounts to well over $450. Since the players have to pay for ice time and other expenses themselves, this gift was very much appreciated and welcomed. When I interviewed Ken Krapf, Vice-President of the club, he said that the club was deeply indebted to Mr. Crozier and his trainer.
